UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT DISTRICT OF NEVADA

12 || SHERYL FOSTER, et al.,

13 || Respondents.

Case No. 2:14-cv-00531-JCM-VCF

ORDER

15 Petitioner has paid the filing fee. She has submitted a motion for leave to file excess pages 16 (#3). The court grants this motion. The court has reviewed her petition pursuant to Rule 4 of the 17 Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases in the United States District Courts.

Petitioner is challenging the judgment of conviction in case number C266818 of the Eighth Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada. Petitioner agreed to plead guilty grand larceny in that case. As part of the same plea agreement, she pleaded guilty to burglary in case number C265843. She was adjudicated as a habitual criminal pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 207.010 in both cases, and the sentences run consecutively. Petitioner did not appeal the judgment of conviction in case number C266818.

Petitioner filed a post-conviction habeas corpus petition in state district court. The state district court denied the petition. It ruled that the petition as a whole was untimely pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 34.726(1). It also ruled that some claims were procedurally barred pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 34.810 because she could have raised them on appeal, and it ruled that the other claims

1 were without merit. Petitioner appealed. The Nevada Supreme Court ruled that the petition was 2 timely, but it affirmed the denial based upon the state district court's other determinations.

3 Petitioner then filed her federal habeas corpus petition pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254.
 4 Although she has designated eleven grounds for relief, paragraphs and sentences often continue 5 from one ground to another. Instead of referring to the grounds for relief, the court will refer to the 6 numbered paragraphs.

7 In paragraphs 1 through 14, petitioner alleges: (1) she was on painkilling and anxiety
 8 medication when she was arrested; (2) she was questioned in custody without being advised of her 9 rights; (3) counsel advised her to plead guilty; (4) petitioner did not steal any objects from an 10 antique store, which was the basis for the charge of grand larceny, but she took them in payment for 11 selling the store's owner an ounce of marijuana; (5) counsel failed to investigate petitioner's version 12 of events; (6) petitioner did not have active warrants for her arrest in other jurisdictions; and (7) the 13 value of the items stolen was less than the value required for grand larceny.

14 [A] guilty plea represents a break in the chain of events which has preceded it in the criminal 15 process. When a criminal defendant has solemnly admitted in open court that he is in fact 16 guilty of the offense with which he is charged, he may not thereafter raise independent 17 claims relating to the deprivation of constitutional rights that occurred prior to the entry of the guilty plea. He may only attack the voluntary and intelligent character of the guilty plea by showing that the advice he received from counsel was not within the standards set forth in [McMann v. Richardson, 397 U.S. 759 (1970)].

18 Tollett v. Henderson, 411 U.S. 258, 267 (1973). All of the allegations in paragraphs 1 through 14
 19 pre-date entry of the plea. In all of those paragraphs, petitioner alleges only in a conclusory fashion 20 that counsel advised her to plead guilty, and she alleges no facts that her guilty plea otherwise was 21 unknowing and involuntary. Indeed, based upon the facts as alleged in the petition, counsel's advice
 22 to plead guilty was competent, because petitioner's apparent defense to the charge of grand larceny 23 was to admit that she was trafficking in a controlled substance. The prosecution could have 24 corrected that problem simply by charging her with trafficking. Furthermore, given that the 25 prosecution was seeking adjudication as a habitual criminal pursuant to Nev. Rev. Stat. § 207.010, 26 which replaces the penalty otherwise authorized by the underlying crime, the penalty for either 27 grand larceny or trafficking would have been the same. The court will give petitioner the 28 opportunity to file an amended petition that corrects these defects. Correction is not simply the

1 addition of phrases such as “poor advice” or “unknowing and involuntary” to petitioner’s
 2 allegations, because the facts alleged do not support a claim that counsel was ineffective in advising
 3 her plead guilty or that her plea was unknowing and involuntary. Petitioner needs to allege new 4 facts that can demonstrate that her counsel’s advice was ineffective assistance of counsel or that her 5 plea was unknowing and involuntary.

6 Paragraphs 15 through 22 are claims of error in petitioner’s state post-conviction habeas 7 corpus proceedings. Even if these errors occurred, they are not addressable in federal habeas
 8 corpus. Franzen v. Brinkman, 877 F.2d 26, 26 (9th Cir. 1989); see also Gerlaugh v. Stewart, 129
 9 F.3d 1027, 1045 (9th Cir. 1997). In the amended petition, petitioner needs to omit these allegations.

10 Petitioner has submitted a motion for appointment of counsel (#2). Whenever the court 11 determines that the interests of justice so require, counsel may be appointed to any financially
 12 eligible person who is seeking habeas corpus relief. 18 U.S.C. § 3006A(a)(2)(B). “[T]he district 13 court must evaluate the likelihood of success on the merits as well as the ability of the petitioner to 14 articulate his claims pro se in light of the complexity of the legal issues involved.” Weygandt v.
 15 Look, 718 F.2d 952 (9th Cir. 1983). There is no constitutional right to counsel in federal habeas 16 proceedings. McCleskey v. Zant, 499 U.S. 467, 495 (1991). The factors to consider are not 17 separate from the underlying claims, but are intrinsically enmeshed with them. Weygandt, 718 F.2d 18 at 954. After reviewing the petition, the court concludes that appointment of counsel is not 19 warranted.

20 On August 29, 2014, petitioner filed a notice of appeal (#7) from a decision of the Nevada
 21 Supreme Court. This court lacks jurisdiction to consider an appeal from a judgment of a state court.
 22 District of Columbia Court of Appeals v. Feldman, 460 U.S. 462, 476, 483 n.16 (1983); Rooker v.
 23 Fidelity Trust Co., 263 U.S. 413, 415-16 (1923). Petitioner’s sole federal remedy from a judgment
 24 of conviction of a state court is through a petition for a writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C.
 25 § 2254. Preiser v. Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 475, 500 (1973). Because petitioner already is pursuing 26 habeas corpus relief in this court, the court will take no action on the notice of appeal.

27 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the motion for leave to file excess pages (#3) is 28 GRANTED.

1 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the clerk of the court shall file the petition for a writ of 2 habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254.

3 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the clerk of the court shall send petitioner a petition for a 4 writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 form with instructions. Petitioner shall have 5 thirty (30) days from the date that this order is entered in which to file an amended petition to 6 correct the noted deficiencies. Neither the foregoing deadline nor any extension thereof signifies or 7 will signify any implied finding of a basis for tolling during the time period established. Petitioner 8 at all times remains responsible for calculating the running of the federal limitation period and 9 timely asserting claims. Failure to comply with this order will result in the dismissal of this action.

10 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that petitioner shall clearly title the amended petition as such 11 by placing the word "AMENDED" immediately above "Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus 12 Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254" on page 1 in the caption, and petitioner shall place the docket
13 number, 2:14-cv-00531-JCM-VCF, above the word "AMENDED."

14 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the clerk shall add Catherine Cortez Masto, Attorney
15 General for the State of Nevada, as counsel for respondents.

16 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the clerk shall electronically serve upon respondents a 17 copy of the petition and this order. Respondents' counsel shall enter a notice of appearance herein 18 within twenty (20) days of entry of this order, but no further response shall be required from 19 respondents until further order of the court.

20 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the motion for appointment of counsel (#2) is DENIED.

21 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the court will take no action upon the notice of appeal 22 (#7).

23 DATED: September 9, 2014.
